

SALVADOR BELTRAN-DEL-RIO

Dean of the School of Government and Economics, Universidad Panamericana (since September 2019).

Salvador has 30 years of leadership experience in public and private sectors in Mexico where he engaged in the energy sector as well as on various areas at national-international level:

- Director of External and Government Affairs, and Compliance at Sierra Oil & Gas (2014-2019). He was a founding member of the company.
- Vice-President of the Energy Committee of the Mexican Employer's Confederation (COPARMEX); member of the External Affairs Committee of the Mexican Association of Hydrocarbon Companies (AMEXHI) (2015-2019).
- He has held key government positions for 12 years (2001-2012), including as Commissioner of the National Migration Institute, Under Secretary for Latin America at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Deputy Assistant Secretary for International Energy Affairs at the Ministry of Energy, Consul General in New York.
- He was a Federal Congressmen (1994-1997), member of the Constitutional and Overseeing Committees.
- He has worked as a Professor and Research Professor at various universities early in his career.
- He practiced Corporate, Tax and Environmental Law at Baker & McKenzie (Juarez-Monterrey offices).

He holds a Master of Laws from Harvard Law School (1989), a Master in Latin American Studies from the University of New Mexico (1986), and a Law degree from Universidad de Monterrey (1982).