

The Donald Trump Indictment: Who Is the Bigger Loser? (3/30/23)

The prosecutor better have more evidence than has been made public. Paying someone so your family doesn't find out you've committed adultery is sleazy, but not criminal. This indictment of Trump could bring sympathy to the former President. Remember, his economic and international policies were spot on. Yet, as a human being he rates a big fat zero.

Many in the media and the Democratic party are celebrating tonight. However, the one Democrat who should not be celebrating is Joe Biden. If there is any truth to the evidence of Tony Bobulinski (look him up, he ran the Biden businesses) and what's on the Hunter Biden computer that Joe was the "big guy", I'd be nervous.

The precedent has been set. An indictment of a President will be easier in the future.

The Republican-controlled House and attorneys from red states will now go after Biden. We will be hearing about Biden and Ukraine (as Vice President) and Biden and China for the remainder of the year, if not longer.

There are many Democratic voters and party leaders who believe they've won a victory tonight. Yet, there will be no winners. We've all lost a little bit of what makes us uniquely Americans (and a piece of our soul.)
